

For someone who travels as much as I do, especially into remote areas, XM Satellite radio has been tremendous. For the first time in my life I don't have to waste time scanning the dial as I move around. I know where to find what I want to hear, including traffic, and I don't have to listen to all the local chatter as I drive through towns. Please don't put restrictions on satellite radios ability to serve our needs.